WELCOME TO ITALY

The greetings of Regione del Veneto to all the athletes who will reach Cansiglio and Cortina d'Ampezzo for the 2021 World Cup international event.

To all the fans and especially to more than 450 athletes coming from all over the world, I'm sure it will be an absolutely significant experience, which will allow them to refine their skills while being immersed in the beauty of landscapes such as the Cansiglio Forest, dear to the Serenissima Republic of Venice, surrounded by ancient Cimbric villages, and Cortina d'Ampezzo, the Queen of the Dolomites.

I see with satisfaction the increasing development of this kind of events, which strengthen the friendship between people of different nationalities but who also have a single spirit and a common passion for outdoor activities, in close contact with nature and in full respect of the environment.

I would like to thank all organizers, participants and supporters, for the commitment as well as the wish for a pleasant stay with the invitation to return to the Veneto as tourists to fully enjoy the beauty and culture of our magnificent region.

Cristiano Corazzari
Councillor for Territory, Culture and Sport
Regione del Veneto

The final stage of Orienteering World Cup will be held in Cortina d'Ampezzo, which will award the overall team title for 2021.

It is a competition that allows you to put yourself in the nature of our Dolomites, UNESCO heritage, and that is defined "The sport of the woods" because the ideal fields of competition are the woods.

Our town proves once again to be an elective place to tell a story of perfect understanding between man and nature that attracts, within this event, competitors sensitive to environmental issues.

In fact, it is in the scenery of our town centre with the frame of the Ampezzo Dolomites that this event will be realized: the protagonists of the Orienteering World Cup will compete surrounded by views of great beauty.

Cortina d'Ampezzo welcomes all the protagonists and guests of this competition and waits to award the winners.

Happy orienteering to all!

Luigi Alverà
The Vice-Mayor
Cortina d'Ampezzo

Cansiglio is a historical and natural heritage of great value, known in particular for its forest: in addition to its productive (wood) and protective (soil protection) function, the forest today has an important recreational and social tourism role, dictated by the need for a reconnection with nature, which must, however, be carried out in an environmentally sustainable way, with a low anthropic impact and in full respect of the places in order to preserve the precious animal and plant biodiversity.

Among the ecosystem services provided by the forest, the model of conscious tourism oriented to environmental sustainability is what we want to promote in Cansiglio, pre-alpine highland between Veneto and Friuli Venezia Giulia, in the middle of the provinces of Belluno, Treviso and Pordenone. The Veneto part of the Cansiglio highland is a regional state-owned area covering about 4500 hectares, managed by Veneto Agricoltura, characterized not only by meadows and pastures and nature reserves, but also by one of the most important beech and fir forests in Europe.

The Cansiglio Forest is a site of Community importance: in fact, being part of the Natura 2000 Network, this is a place of high botanical and faunal naturalistic excellence, and the presence of natural ecosystems has been guaranteed by centuries of careful land management, from the time of the Serenissima Republic of Venice to nowadays, with Veneto Agricoltura.

Orienteering is well suited both to this eco-friendly tourism approach and to the preservation of the biodiversity of the places where it is practiced: often this sport is nicknamed as "Sport of Woods" because the sporting facility is precisely the natural territory. This implies both a high environmental sensitivity by the participants along with a continuous search for new territories where this sport can be practiced. For this reason, the Cansiglio Forest is the ideal place to enjoy orienteering and in particular for high quality sports tourism, where athletes-tourists can appreciate not only very technical routes but also the natural beauties that the territory has to offer.

The international and Italian orienteering federations agreed to choose the Veneto region, and in particular the Cansiglio Forest, mainly due to previous experience and also for the high quality of sports facilities and nature landscape offered in this area. Among the other competitions, in May 2021 Cansiglio Forest hosted the Italian Orienteering Championships which represented a weekend of great satisfaction and success both for athletes and organizers.

Veneto Agricoltura therefore has the privilege of hosting the World Cup Finals of Orienteering from 30 September to 2 October: after Switzerland in the spring (May) and Sweden in the summer (August), Cansiglio in the fall will be the place dedicated to the competitions that will end in Cortina d'Ampezzo, distinguishing Veneto as a favorite place for mountain sports (also in view of the 2026 Winter Olympics).

We would like to thank in advance the organizing committee, which is making agreements with local administrations and bodies, institutions and also the great number of volunteers involved at various levels, in order to realize the event and maximize the promotion of the territory in an integrated way serve as a network with the other Venetian realities connected to Cansiglio. This is creating the conditions for a good success of the event and for the media visibility of the Cansiglio Forest also at an international level.

Nicola Dell'Acqua
Director of Veneto Agricoltura

On behalf of the Administration that I have the honour to represent and of the entire population of the Municipality of Alpage, I wish to the representatives of the many nations that will participate in the Orienteering World Cup race to be held in late September in the beautiful locations of the forest of Cansiglio and the basin of Cortina d'Ampezzo, to be able to enjoy the beauty of nature that can offer our territory.

Athletes will have the opportunity to test themselves on beautiful terrain from a naturalistic point of view but also quite challenging in terms of competitive commitment. The previous events held in the past have demonstrated the strong organizational capacity of the companies involved and the appreciation of the athletes participating. We are sure that also on this occasion organizers and athletes will give their best for the optimal success of the whole event.

Umberto Soccà
Mayor of Alpage

It is with excitement and a hint of pride that the City of Fregona hosts, along with others, the final of the Orienteering World Cup 2021, after that, on the beautiful weekend of 8 and 9 May 2021, in memory of Nicola Comarella, the Italian Championships were held.

The forest of Cansiglio, formerly called "Bosco dei Dogi", will return to be a beautiful stage for hosting an exciting sport such as orienteering, which combines the technical skill and physical effort required to athletes to be into the nature, which can be insidious, but, if respected, can guide you and be welcoming.

This is how the spirit of orienteering, especially in a time like the one we are living in, leads us to reflect on the centrality of humans in a relationship that must be of balance and respect with the environment that surrounds us, whatever the latter is.

Last but not least, thanks to the organizers and to all those who have contributed to the realization of this exciting sporting event.

Patrizio Chies
Mayor of Fregona

The Cansiglio Forest once again prepares to become a theater of high-level sports, hosting the Orienteering World Cup. The Covid era, which we are still living, puts a strain on the ability of the organizers, but the sport at all levels is giving the signal of recovery that we all need and this world event is a clear proof. But Orienteering has always been a sport "in safety", characterized by a low impact of competitions on the environment, by the choice of natural places and by the minimum contact between the participants, characteristics that over time have made it loved by athletes of all ages. This event highlights even more how the mountain, with its forests, is a land of great possibilities not only for athletes but for everyone: it guarantees a safe, viable, livable and naturally uncrowded space. My wish therefore goes to the organizers, given the greater commitment required to respect the measures, and to all the athletes involved so that they can succeed and together appreciate our beautiful land. I also add my wish that many can look at this sport as an example of how to live the mountain on every occasion: with passion, but also with respect for its beauty and its fragility.

Oscar Facchin
Mayor of Tambre

The enhancement of the territories by hosting sporting events is becoming increasingly important for local governments, especially when sports disciplines bring in close contact with the environment and the athlete. Orienteering, without any doubt, is that specific discipline that embodies an intimate contact between the person and the surrounding environment. Not only a sensory immersion in nature, but also an intellectual one that makes the experience lasting in the memory. The Municipal Administration of Polcenigo is aware that sports events of this magnitude are fundamental resources to effectively communicate the beauty of our mountain. Our enchanted mountain.

Mario Della Toffola
Mayor of Polcenigo
